

TAKE CARE OF OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES

A Combination FSA (also known as Post-Deductible FSA) is a Limited Medical FSA plan that is converted to a general-purpose Medical FSA once a participant has met the IRS statutory deductible.

- Combination FSA initial eligible expenses include dental, vision and preventive care.
- When participants meet the IRS deductible with out-of-pocket medical expenses, they must submit the Deductible Verification Form to Aptia. This document serves as a one-time notification the deductible was met, and it's available on the employer and consumer portals. Aptia doesn't require documentation for expenses used to reach the deductible. Medical expenses used to meet the statutory deductible aren't reimbursable with the Combination FSA. Funds in the participant's Health Savings Account can be used to meet the statutory deductible.
- After the Deductible Verification Form is processed, Aptia accepts claims for medical expenses in addition to dental, vision and preventive care claims. Note: For medical expenses to be eligible for reimbursement, the dates of service must be on or after the date the statutory deductible was met.
- The debit card will only approve Limited Medical FSA expenses after the IRS deductible is met. Claims beyond dental, vision and preventive care must be submitted manually or on the participant portal.
